

STAKEHOLDER IN THE DIGITAL SINGLE MARKET: WHAT ARE THE PROSPECTS?

The future is now. Meet Andrus Ansip, European Commission Vice-President for the Digital Single Market and contribute to the discussion about the future of film and digital content.

Vice-President Andrus Ansip and a panel of key stakeholders will discuss the Commission's plans and the significance and consequences of the Digital Single Market as seen from the perspectives of the Commission, the industry and European consumers.

The Commission is expected to propose concrete legislative proposals on 21st September 2016 that addresses the issues identified in the communication of December 2015.

The panel features Allan Hansen, CEO of Nordisk Film; Christina Rosendahl, film director; Sindre Guldvog, CEO of the Norwegian Film Institute; Samuel Young, Secretary General at European Film Agency Directors; and Tomas Eskilsson, CEO of Film i Väst. The discussion will be moderated by journalist Adam Holm.

Sincerely,

The European Commission's representation in Denmark
Joachim Malling, Chairman of the Danish Film Institute

Agenda

Welcome by Joachim Malling,
Chairman, DFI

EC Vice-President Andrus Ansip opens the discussion

Panel and audience

Wrap-up by Joachim Malling

Drinks and canapés

Time and place

September 16th / 4:15 PM

Danish Film Institute, Cinema Asta
Gothersgade 55
1123 Copenhagen

Sign-up

To sign up, please follow the link below to fill out the registration form.

<https://dfi.nemtilmeld.dk/31/>

Further information

Maiken Høj,
DFI International
maikenh@dfi.dk

